

`\global`

This command makes the following definition or assignment global (see “global”, p. ‘global’) so that it becomes effective independent of group boundaries. You can apply a `\global` prefix to any kind of definition or assignment, including a macro definition or a register assignment.

Example:

```
{\global\let\la = \leftarrow}
$a \la b$
```

produces:

$$a \leftarrow b$$